2019 Health Care Staff Compensation Survey

In an increasingly competitive marketplace for talent, health care organizations must balance the need to manage labor expense with the ability to effectively recruit, retain and engage key staff positions.

Learn more about emerging market trends in base salary, total cash compensation and pay practices from SullivanCotter's 2019 Health Care Staff Compensation Survey – featuring critical benchmarking data from more than 600 organizations on over 450 different administrative, nursing, professional, supervisory and management positions.

Questions? Contact Us!

888.739.7039 | contact-us@sullivancotter.com

Recruiting experienced talent often requires defined guidelines in order to balance market competitiveness and internal equity New Hire Pay Practices have a formal process to 80% determine hire-in rates cap the number of years of 39% creditable experience 17 is the average experience required to be hired in at range maximum \sim $\dot{\bigcirc}\sim$ vears

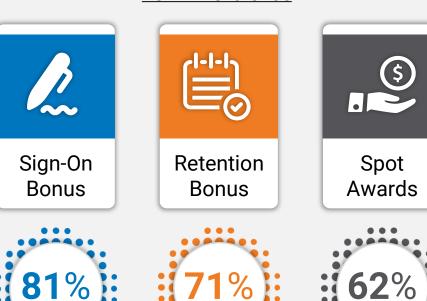

Compared to an overall median annual increase of 2.1% in base hourly rates, organizations are paying larger annual increases for certain roles to address scarcity and other critical talent needs

Median Percent Change in Base Hourly Rates (2018-2019)

Information Security Specialist 5.2% Employee Relations Specialist 4.6% Certified Nursing Assistant 4.5% 3.6% Certified Medical Coder - Outpatient

With modest fixed amounts, 42% of organizations utilize select incentives to support a wide range of recruitment, retention and recognition scenarios 2019 Prevalence

Source: SullivanCotter 2018-2019 Health Care Staff Compensation Survey Copyright © 2020 by SullivanCotter

